Tech Source to be acquired by Eizo

Orlando, FL, January 31, 2007 - Eizo Nanao Corporation, a leading global manufacturer of high-end visual display products, has entered into an agreement to acquire Tech Source, Inc., an Orlando, Florida based company, through its US subsidiary Eizo Nanao Technologies Inc. Tech Source specializes in niche market graphics and display products for industries such as Air Traffic Control (ATC). The merger will offer Eizo an immediate entry into the Air Traffic Control and Management market. Tech Source will continue to operate as a wholly owned subsidiary providing solutions and services to ATC and other related markets.

Selwyn L. Henriques, President of Tech Source said, "I am excited about this merger. As part of Eizo, Tech Source will be significantly more competitive in the ATC market. It will enable us to consistently pursue the large ATC programs with the synergy and financial backing of a strong parent. It also gives us the flexibility to pursue other related and vertical markets. We take pride in the quality of our hardware and software products and are very happy to be part of a company that shares the same values. This should be great news for our customers, who have come to expect high quality products and excellent software support from Tech Source over the 19 years that we have been in business. We anticipate a seamless transition."

"The acquisition of Tech Source represents a significant opportunity for us to diversify our product line into the ATC market through a company that is well known in the ATC industry. We look forward to expanding our ATC market share and growing it significantly in the coming years." stated President and CEO of Eizo Nanao Technologies, Thomas J. Waletzki.
